

A LIQUID CRYSTAL DISPLAY HAVING COLOR FILTERS WITH RECESS STRUCTURES

Abstract

A liquid crystal display includes a lower substrate, an upper substrate positioned parallel with the lower substrate, and a plurality of pixel units between the lower substrate and the upper substrate. Each pixel unit includes an upper transparent electrode, a liquid crystal layer, a lower transparent electrode, and a color filter with recess structures.